In wetlands controversy

State attorney clarifies Hancock assessor slap

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
An assistant state attorney general said he did not mean to imply at a Tuesday public meeting in Bay St. Louis regarding wetland ownership that Edward Murtagh, Hancock County's tax assessor-collector, is incompetent.

Mack Cameron, an assistant attorney general, when an audience member at the meeting charged the state should have informed property owners they were paying taxes on state-claimed wetlands, replied, "If the tax assessor had been doing his job, he wouldn't have collected taxes on that property!"

Cameron offered his comment at the meeting which drew about 75 property owners to the Bay Junior High School auditorium in Bay St. Louis.

The meeting, heated literally by sweltering temperatures and emotionally by the angered property owners, started with a comment from an unidentified audience member of "Let's go crookies!"

Norton Haas Sr. criticized the meeting panelists for not selecting an air conditioned meeting location.

Col. Charles Blalock, director of the State Department of Natural Resources in Jackson, replied Hancock property owners had made him and other state officials sweat at a previous wetland hearing.

Cameron, a veteran trial lawyer, said Wednesday that due to the emotional pressure of the heated meeting he did not clarify his statement.

He contacted The Sea Coast Echo to clarify his statement after Murtagh was informed of the comment and telephoned the state attorney general's office for an explanation.

The assistant attorney general explained an assessor in the late 1800's, when Hancock property was originally assessed, was to blame because he did not except the state property below the mean high tide mark.

At a previous public hearing regarding the south Hancock wetlands, Cameron blamed surveyors and lawyers for not excluding state-owned waterbottoms from land descriptions utilized as a guide for tax assessments.

Cameron added that landowners must apply with the county tax assessor-collector's office or state to have Mississippi-owned wetlands excluded from tax rolls.

But Murtagh disagrees and Wednesday stated, "The taxpayer has the 'privilege' of applying to the state for this."

He recommended, because of the present State Supreme Court appeal filed by Cinque Bambini Partnership of Hancock County regarding wetland ownership, that local property owners continue paying taxes on all their land.

Murtagh reported his present property re-appraisal program excludes state-owned property based on aerial photography and soils map information.

The Tuesday night meeting was chaired by a panel including Larry Lewis, coast ecologist and staff scientist, and Dr. Richard Leard, director, both of the State Bureau of Marine Resources in Long Beach, Blalock, and Cameron.

Throughout the meeting, the panel was bombarded with questions, comments and insults which ranged from "bureaucrats" to "boxos."

Cameron at the meeting said "I don't have any idea" when asked if the bottom of a dredged canal becomes state property if the tide moves over that area.

Sheriff's department seizes cultivated marijuana plants

By JUNE M. HEYDT
Three hundred and nineteen marijuana plants were seized Thursday afternoon in the Fenton area, by Hancock County sheriff's department personnel, Mississippi Highway Patrol personnel, and Waveland police.

Captain, Criminal Investigation Bureau of the Southern Region, Joe Price, said, "We are part of a state-wide governor's program called, The Mississippi Domestic Marijuana Eradication program."

Price said, "After local agencies spot the marijuana or they get a report of where it's growing, we furnish a helicopter for aerial detection to get the exact location."

Hancock Sheriff, Ronnie Peterson said, "We're finding a lot of it growing locally. Our department is putting a lot of emphasis on finding it."

Peterson said that the marijuana will be stored until the investigation is completed. Then it is sent to Gulfport to be destroyed," he added.

"Actually we're finding that most of the owners of the property that it's growing on, are not aware that it's growing there," said Peterson.

"It may be on land belonging to people who live away from the area. We have also found quite a bit of it on government land such as national parks," Price said.

"Since the program started we're finding an average of 1,000 plants a week."

"For years we thought it was being smuggled in but, actually a hell of a lot is being grown here in the United States most of it in the south east regions," continued Price.

"Oregon an ungody amount was found," he said.

"What they're growing here is good quality that has to be gardened. Most are female plants without seeds which makes the THC content high," he said.

"The program is done on a receiving basis which means we get reports from local people. It's a program that we're trying to get the public involved in. It won't work unless we all work together," said Price.

Peterson said, "We were informed of where there might be some plants growing, with the help of the helicopter we spotted it from the air."

The 319 plants came from seven different locations on two different land areas in Fenton, said Price.

"Unfortunately, some of the growers are becoming more sophisticated, like the man we arrested last week in Stone County. He had his plants camouflaged with netting to hide it from aerial detection."

Alvin Ladner, narcotics investigator with the Hancock County sheriff's department, said, "It has been proven that marijuana can cause birth defects."

He added that it is much more dangerous than most people realize.

"Unfortunately," said Price, "many people don't know the devastating effects this drug has on people's lives."

"I've seen what it can do to people when we have gone into places to seize it, they don't seem to care about how they look, act or feel. They don't seem to have any respect for themselves or other people either."

Price, Peterson and other narcotics officers have asked the public to be cooperative with this program. If anyone knows of marijuana growing or people who are distributing it please call the local sheriff's office or call toll free to 1-800-654-2299 or 1-800-222-7846.

All sources of information will be kept in strict confidence.

Goodwill planning new location

By JUNE M. HEYDT

Bay St. Louis' Goodwill Thrift Store will be taking a giant step forward in about two weeks when its location is moved from Necaise Street to a larger and more convenient address in the A&P Shopping Mall.

Leroy J. Modenbach Jr. and Angie Modenbach were checking out the new location Wednesday morning and expressed their optimism about the location and potential for growth the store has at the new address.

Modenbach said, "The store will be set up for the convenience of the customer."

Goodwill is an organization that employs the handicapped. They are a largely self-supporting organization and have about 45 employees from Gulfport to Bay St. Louis.

Modenbach said, "We are trying to change the image of the Goodwill stores. They are no longer just second-hand stores where only the poor go to shop."

"Shopping at a Goodwill store is similar to going to a garage sale," said Modenbach.

"Unfortunately a lot of people still think of Goodwill as a place where you can only get old used up things, this is not true. There is a lot of good merchandise in the thrift stores."

"Sometimes local stores donate products to Goodwill. These are things that are brand new and have never been used."

"We have certain standards that we follow and we won't put out anything for sale that is not good. Out of every four items donated maybe two or three will be sent to salvage."

"Back in the 1950s and 60s people would only buy new things, but, now with the economy the way it is people are trying to save as much money as possible and are starting to shop at thrift stores and yard sales," said Modenbach.

Authority OKs Celeron request to cross railroad

By JUNE M. HEYDT

John Lavin of Celeron Oil Corporation asked for authorization from the Port and Harbor Authority Thursday night to cross Port Bienville Rail Road for access to a well the company is planning to drill.

Lavin brought copies of plans to show where they will cross which is outside the industrial park, two miles west of Tennessee Gas and out through the woods.

A resolution was passed, upon the approval of the plans and specs, allowing COC to establish the crossing. The resolution was passed on the condition that Celeron Oil, put the land back the way it was when the project is finished.

In other business, the commission approved to advertise for bids for reconstruction of taxiway E at Stennis

"The idea of recycling is really big now, and buying second hand merchandise is a form of recycling."

Goodwill Industries is mostly self-supporting through its stores, however the agency does receive a small amount of funding from United Way of Hancock County.

Airport for cleaning and sealing of the runway and cleaning and sealing the aircraft parking apron. The plans and specs will have to be approved by the Federal Aviation Administration since it will be FAA funds used for the project.

Mike Smith, Advanced Developments, Inc. was authorized to prepare plans and specs for a new taxiway south at Stennis Airport.

A bid was accepted from Micro Methods for a SMA water quality study. The commission agreed that although it was not the lowest bid, it was the best bid because of quality control, program description of sampling techniques and because of the qualifications of the company. The bid was for $6,949 and has to be approved by FAA.

ARTERIAL BLOOD GAS MACHINE

Hancock General's respiratory therapy department aids physicians in diagnosing their patients through the use of the arterial blood gas machine. This computerized piece of equipment measures the pH, or acid base balance, in the blood to determine if a patient is having metabolic or respiratory problems. It also measures the carbon dioxide and oxygen levels in the arterial blood, and all test results from this machine are available in 30 seconds to assist physicians to treat emergency patients. The respiratory therapy department also provides physicians with a myriad of other services, such as the bird respirator, or the intermittent inflation of the lungs with air or oxygen under pressure; the pulmonary function, which diagnoses the restrictive and/or obstructive pulmonary disease; the electrocardiogram, a graphic testing of the electrical forces produced by the heart; the electroencephalogram, a record of the electric potential between different areas of the brain. Holter monitors, which record the activity of the heart for a 24-hour period, and echocardiograms, which take pictures of the heart chambers, are also tests provided through the respiratory therapy department. All of these services are vital to patient care, and we feel the respiratory therapy department is a necessary part of making sure the people of the community receive the best in patient and health care. We're Hancock General, your community hospital that cares, and we think it's time you got to know us!

Hancock wrecks claim two women

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Local law enforcement officials are investigating recent unrelated traffic accidents which fatally injured two women.

The Hancock County Sheriff's Department is probing a two-car head-on collision which occurred the afternoon of Aug. 7 on a Wolf Creek Road curve just north of the Salmen Scout Reservation near the Sellers Community.

Carl Banderet, county coroner, reports Lola L. Melton, 47, of the Saucier Community died the night following the accident at Hancock General Hospital from head injuries suffered in the collision.

Deputy Don Coss of the sheriff's department says the woman was a passenger in a small automobile driven by her husband, Kenneth R. Melton, 48, who is in Gulfport Memorial Hospital suffering a fractured right leg, and multiple contusions and lacerations to his arms and hands.

Riding in the back seat of the vehicle and also injured were the couple's two children and another youth.

Priscilla Melton, 3, is hospitalized with a leg fracture, a left hip dislocation and contusions; Dianne Melton, 5, was apparently treated and released suffering a tongue laceration and minor contusions and lacerations; and Jana Hoda, 9, of Route 1, Box 437, Pass Christian was treated and released suffering a right arm lacerations and possible minor internal injuries, Coss listed.

The Melton car was traveling south when it collided with the other vehicle driven by Rachelle Richards, 17, of Gulfport and with David Holley, 17, also of Gulfport, as a passenger.

Richards was treated for mouth and face injuries, and Holley suffered forehead lacerations and leg contusions, both were released from the hospital, Coss reports.

The deputy says his investigation indicates that at the time of the accident the road was wet and Richards apparently lost control of the vehicle in the curve and slid into the southbound lane, both drivers evidently swerved, the cars collided on the road shoulder and both vehicles slid into a ditch.

No citations were issued in the mishap, Coss adds.

Deputies Willie Lee and Thomas Powell responded to the accident along with Mobile Medic.

Deputy David Garcia is assisting Coss in the investigation.

The Waveland Police Department is investigating the other accident in which a Lafayette, La. woman suffered injuries and later died at Hancock General.

Banderet reports that Anna H. Orlovicz, 86, died at 9:40 p.m. Aug. 6 from internal chest injuries suffered in a two-car accident earlier that evening in the 100 block of Nicholson Avenue in Waveland.

Chief Donald Dorn of the Waveland department says the woman was a passenger riding in the right rear seat of a car driven Sandra L. Bush, 32 of Rayne, La. which was backing out into the avenue from a driveway.

Other passengers in the car were Bernice Orlovicz, 59, and T.V. Orlovicz, 64, both of Lafayette, Dorn lists.

That car collided with another driven by Celeste Strickler, 74, of Meridian which was traveling north on Nicholson and front of the car struck the right rear fender of the Bush vehicle, the chief explains.

Dorn says neither of the vehicles apparently sustained very heavy damage.

No charges have been filed in the mishap which is still under investigation, he adds.

"I was born and reared in Beat One and this is where I chose to raise my family. I'd like you to meet my son Bubby, my wife, Joyce, my daughter Cindy and our "Tasha". Our belief in Hancock County can be measured in terms of generations not what's in it for me now."

A Personal Statement:

1. "In the recent past the position of Beat 1 Supervisor has been considered a part-time job, even a hobby. I shall not present a 'gift list' every four years. The job, as I see it, is a full time position responsible to the taxpayers of Beat 1. It will be the only job I have."
2. "Because being Beat 1 Supervisor will be my only job, I shall use time wisely to evaluate the most economical and effective ways of spending our hard earned tax dollars. As you know, the drainage problems, road problems and the beach require immediate attention."
3. "I'm sure you agree the time is now for the taxpayers of Beat 1 to have a Supervisor who is on the job every day and will be available to answer calls and questions 24 hours a day, seven days a week. You deserve this and it is your right to expect it."
4. "The problems of Beat 1 will be met every day...not just when it's convenient. There will be strong, steady improvement in the area where we live. This will be my commitment to you as Supervisor of Beat 1. It will not be necessary to have a long list of needs every four years when planning is done day to day, week to week."

I wish to thank everyone for their support in the Primary Election. With all of us pulling together on August 23rd we can again make the post of Beat 1 Supervisor a meaningful and responsible position. I look forward to talking with you before election day.

Local resident Joseph (J.C.) Baxter will be one of several Americans telling their horror stories of World War II as a Japanese prisoner after the fall of Bataan. The program is scheduled for 6 p.m. tonight on WDSU, Channel 6, New Orleans, and is titled 'Bataan, The Forgotten Hell'. It was produced by the National Broadcasting Co.

As many of you know, the program had previously been aired on Dec. 5, and some folks may have failed to view it.

Everyone was talking about the program for many weeks after its airing.

We had the honor of being the first person to interview and publish a story on Baxter's torments during his capture by the Japanese many years ago.

J.C., as well as several thousand young men and women from Hancock County, answered the call to fight for America's freedom during World War II.

Many lost their lives, some like Baxter lived through the torments of being a prisoner of war, others were wounded and even those who did not receive a scratch still remember the horrors of war.

Baxter lost an eye, and will carry that and many more memories of the tortures of war with him to his grave.

As the documentary states, there are many today who were not even born when these tortures were suffered by their fellow Americans.

We feel it is a program which should be viewed by everyone from high school age up.

We say to J.C., and Fred Curet, who was captured at Corregidor, and other Hancock Countians who were also prisoners of war, and every American who has answered the call to protect America's Freedom, thank you.

We at The Sea Coast Echo are all grieved about the death of Ursula San Filippo, a former typesetter here for several years.

Ursula will always be remembered for trying to make everyone happy, remembering birthdays, anniversaries and of course Christmas.

Being happy, and helping keep everyone else happy was her trademark.

To her husband Dominic, sons Dominic Jr., Paul, and James; and daughter Melanie; and grandchildren, God be with you.

Something we have noted while driving along the beach last week, is the fact there are several people who really take pride in our city.

We noted two ladies whom we know with hands full of trash they collected along the beach.

Now this is being a good citizen, and we need more folks to do the same.

Better yet, of course would be if folks would not throw trash alongside our roadways.

Adoption rate down, death rate up at Hancock Animal Shelter

Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir,

I have recently begun doing volunteer work at our new Animal Shelter and while I cannot speak officially, I can speak from my heart.

It is with a very heavy heart that I leave the shelter each week, knowing that unless some kind and caring people share their homes with these unfortunate animals that they must be put to sleep in order to make room for the next group of unwanted animals.

While these animals are at the shelter we try to give them as much attention and love as possible and it is heartwarming to see them respond.

There is an adoption fee of $7 per animal which is to pay for their rabies vaccination and it is a small price to pay for a lifetime of love and companionship.

The key to this problem is spaying and neutering.

The Humane Society is always willing to assist with the spaying and neutering of any animal in order to help control the local animal population.

The shelter is located on Gulfside Drive and is open from 8 to 10 a.m. on Mondays and all day Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays.

If you cannot adopt an animal, please consider making a contribution to help keep the shelter well-stocked with food, cat litter, shampoo, etc.

It costs money to buy all these things and the shelter is run on a limited budget.

Remember the movie star dog Benji? Well, he was adopted from an animal shelter just hours before he was to be put to sleep.

Come and see our homeless animals and you may find your own Benji.

Newspaper coverage of water pollution, stingray problems requested

August 10, 1983

Dear Editor:

You are to be commended for the broad news coverage given in The Sea Coast Echo each Thursday and Sunday. This coverage keeps our citizens fairly well up-to-date on happenings of interest, issues not yet decided upon concerning public schools, hospital status, jail conditions, etc.

However, that which seems to me of prime importance has been neglected. At no time have I read an article warning those who enter the waters of the Bay of St. Louis about the danger of being attacked by stingrays!

Hancock General Hospital has treated quite a number of victims recently, according to information given me by a hospital staff member who wishes not to be identified.

"Grown men come in to Emergency for treatment—crying aloud in agony—there's no pain more severe," the staff member said.

A Bay St. Louis pharmacist from a leading drug store said:

"People should be warned against bathing or wading in our waters now because there is a serious infestation of stingrays. These creatures tend to flat-ten out sluggishly in the shallow water, cover themselves with sand and lash out with their poisonous barbed tails when disturbed. We have victims coming in for suggested treatment—and they are in indescribable pain."

Less painful, perhaps, but potentially more dangerous is the polluted water. I have seen no mention in your paper of the serious pollution which has been responsible for eye, ear, nose and throat infections. Surely bathers should be informed—and warned—of these hazards.

I am well aware that our community attracts many tourist, and that our economy is strengthened by summer vacationers, retirees and newcomers.

Pointing up hazards to health and safety is risky! However, I feel very strongly the safety and welfare of our people supercedes any personal gain and I believe that our news media has a responsibility to print information that might prevent injury or infection.

The hour is late. Perhaps there is yet time for an inquiring and caring reporter to give factual warnings about the conditions existing in our water.

Sincerely,
Joe Pilet
Bay St. Louis

THE 1984 ELECTIONS— "NOT OVER TILL IT'S OVER"

Yogi Berra, the colorful former catcher for the New York Yankees baseball dynasty in the mid-1950s, has a way—his own way—with words.

In one of his discourses on the strategy of winning games in the late innings, Berra proclaimed that "it's not over till it's over."

Like the famous catcher's pulling victory from defeat proclamation, the elections in Mississippi are not over till they're over.

This means that the first primaries for both parties are behind us, but there's more to come. There's a second party primary now less than three weeks away, and there's a general election in November.

And, just as every member of the team needs to keep swinging away in the late innings, Mississippi citizens need to keep working till the elections are over.

The field of candidates has narrowed. If your candidate is still in the running, keep working for him; if your candidate struck out in the first primary, find you another candidate and go to work for him.

Most importantly, make a personal commitment to vote two more times—in both the second primary and in the general election.

The comment is familiar to us: "The only thing necessary for evil to triumph is for good men to do nothing."

The good men and women of Mississippi need to be full participants in the election process this year—from beginning to end.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT

Five years ago the Mississippi Economic Council published a model plan for county government.

Implementation of the plan, said the council, could make Mississippi the model for all America in the structure and efficiencies of these local governmental bodies—the government, county officials say, closest to the people.

Experiences of the past few weeks illustrate the wisdom of the Council's plan.

Consider these examples:

—Hinds County lost its bond rating because of inadequate record keeping.

—State audits of most counties were found to be three to four years behind.

—Seventy-eight of the state's 82 counties voted to continue the worn out, inefficient, beat system for county road operations.

The Council's plan for county government calls for a clerk of the board of supervisors to be appointed by the board—to assure that the board can be responsible for the work of the clerk.

Under the present system, the clerk is elected, thus limiting the board's control of its own record keeper.

The plan would improve chances for up-to-date audits, and it calls for county executives and the unit system for road operations.

Mississippi needs to profit from the lessons of the past few weeks. In short, we need to insist that newly elected officials—at both local and state levels—move swiftly to improve county government in this state.

IN CONGRESS

By Cong.
Trent Lott

By CONGRESSMAN TRENT LOTT

5th District, Mississippi
GOOD NEWS, BAD NEWS

The first seven months of the 98th Congress are history now and have resulted in a bit of good news and a bit of bad news.

The good news is that the Congress moved early and in a bi-partisan way to shore up social security and tackle a few other problems involving the federal budget and appropriations bills.

The bad news is that the legislative results haven't always been positive and there's been an awful lot of political posturing on several issues.

What has marked the legislative process in the House for the past few months, in my opinion, has been the lack of a bi-partisan spirit. The House has wasted valuable time in many cases debating and voting on a political agenda set by the Democrat majority.

As a consequence, a number of bills remain to be considered when the House returns from its summer district work period in September. For instance, bills to fund national defense programs, agriculture and commerce programs, and reform bankruptcy laws are all pending.

Spending bills are especially important because they are one way we still have of trying to hold down federal spending.

Of the eight individual appropriations measures which have been approved by the House, three have become law. All three have been held substantially in line with budget targets, although some of the largest spending bills have to be considered.

One of the issues which drew the most attention in the days just before the recess period involved funding for the International Monetary Fund, the Export-Import Bank and multi-national development agencies.

The International Monetary Fund generally is a tool through which large U.S. banks provide low interest loans to developing countries, and are joined in this endeavor by 146 nations which are members of the fund. The argument has been made that if the U.S. didn't participate, many of the so-called Third World nations would face more severe economic problems than they now face. Brazil and Mexico, for example, two strong U.S. trading partners, need our economic aid.

Walking away from them could create economic problems for our own country.

In the final analysis, though, I did not feel this bill did enough to protect the American people's money. Sanctioning U.S.-backed loans to foreign countries when we have domestic economic problems, in my opinion, can be inappropriate.

I think you would be surprised to learn that 185 members of the House even voted against an amendment to keep loans from being made to communist countries.

Because of what the bill contained when it came to final passage, I voted against it.

Football boosters asked to pay bus gasoline bill

By JUNE M. HEYDT
 Hancock North Central High School football players may have to find their own means of transportation to games after October.

Ella M. Peterson, president of HNC Band Boosters, presented a gasoline bill for $2,632 for last year's football transportation.

Peterson, who objects to the district paying for travel for football players and not for members of the band or basketball teams, said, "We're after fairness, if one group pays, then let them all pay."

Peterson asked that the football supporters reimburse the district transportation fund, which had picked up the tab, and that the players pay their own mileage in the future.

Donald Hillman, HNC principal, who disburses the school's activity fund; explained that the football players' bus service had been paid out of the activity fund during the 1980-81 and 1981-82 school years.

However, he said, when the fund was cut from $12,000 to $8,000 in 1982, he could not afford to pay the mileage.

Hillman said, "I did not request or authorize the bus and I don't feel I have to pay this bill because I didn't authorize it."

Hillman said when he discovered the bus being filled with gasoline several days after he refused to furnish the service he was told it was authorized by the superintendent's office.

Terrell Randolph, superintendent, said that he did not know who authorized it since he was not in office at the time.

Randolph added, however, that it has been board policy since 1979 to fund the bus service.

The board voted to use $800 from the HNC Elementary School activity fund for the bus until it runs out in October.

The board also passed a motion stating that the boosters will be required to pay $300 from concession sales from each home game until the $2,632 is repaid.

In other business, a bid for insurance for the school district for 1983-84 was awarded to Nationwide Insurance. The board said the firm's bid of $39,974 was the lowest and best bid.

Lucille Bello was hired as full-time cafeteria employee for the 1983-84 school year.

The board passed a motion to advertise for 13 typewriters and five calculators for Hancock North Central High School.

The board approved paying architect

Fred Wagner $120 for professional services for the athletic field house at HNC.

The board agreed to pay Rhonda Necaise, a summer maintenance worker, for work she did for a week at Hancock North Central.

Necaise was under the CETA program but CETA refused to pay her because they said she reported to the wrong school. However, the board agreed that since she did work, she should be paid.

Modenbach and Morreale are really looking forward to the new store and hope that the people of Hancock County will give their support.

Charles Blalock, director of State Department of Natural Resources in Jackson; and Mack Cameron, an assistant state attorney general of Jackson. The state agency representatives met with Hancock landowners to discuss how private and public property boundaries are generally determined. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

But when queried Wednesday, the assistant attorney general admitted the Chancery Court decision in the Cinque Bambini case determined the state owns where the tide ebbs and flows, and the dredging work improves the value of remaining private property.

Cameron also said Tuesday night that Cinque Bambini should not have had to bear the some $300,000 expense for a marine survey to establish its property boundaries.

Joseph Crump, a Cinque Bambini partner, noted the state has not offered to pay the survey costs back to the firm.

The family firm has spent some $500,000 thus far to establish ownership of almost 2,000 acres along Jourdan River.

Blalock reported the state is considering "competitive bonus bid" offerings in south Hancock, but will require successful oil and gas exploration bidders to conduct marine surveys supervised by the BMR.

But several audience members said that would bring about a conflict of interest situation.

Walter Phillips, a Bay attorney representing Bambini in the ongoing lawsuit against the state, noted the primary problem is that Hancock landowners do not trust the state officials because the state leased 600 acres of Cinque Bambini property based on inaccurate maps.

He also noted the State Supreme Court appeal would also re-consider the state's inland property ownership reach based on a headlands consideration in the Public Trust Doctrine.

Lewis indicated the state would not claim as much land as previously estimated, but Shaun Viguere of Bay St. Louis who owns 700 acres in south Hancock stated, "You've told me not to worry so much and I'm getting more worried."

Bert Courge, Hancock District One supervisor, asked if a state constitutional referendum vote could change the mean high tide boundary.

Cameron stated, "It would have to be a constitutional referendum and that could give the land back."

Hearing on Bill scheduled Monday

By JUNE M. HEYDT

A public hearing on the 1983 Jobs Bill program will be conducted Monday, Aug. 15, at 4 p.m. at Bay St. Louis City Hall.

The hearing is to inform citizens about the program's goals and objectives, and also give the public a chance to voice their opinions about the development of the application.

The Job Bills program, through the governor's office, has to be implemented fast, because so many other counties will also be applying for money, said Ron Murray, president of Ron Murray Consultants, Inc., who is preparing the application.

The program, established to develop jobs for areas where unemployment is high, has $6.5 million to distribute throughout Mississippi.

The grant will be awarded according to the number of jobs created, the county's unemployment level, the percentage of long term unemployment in the area and how many low and moderate level income jobs will be established, said Murray.

The total grant application the city is applying for is $432,000.

The funds will be used for drainage work in the city and the project will create 26 new jobs, said Murray.

"Another application to the Community Development Block Grant program is being prepared for the renovation of the gas lines throughout the city.

Murray said the present gas lines are decades old, and are beginning to deteriorate.

"If we can get this grant it will save the city quite a bit of money, Murray added.

Vlahos serves as delegate to Bar Association meet

Circuit Judge Kosta Vlahos of Mississippi's Second Circuit Court District recently returned from the annual meeting of the Judicial Administration Division of the American Bar Association in Atlanta, Ga.

"It was a rewarding and educational experience," Vlahos stated.

Vlahos was elected a delegate to the convention by the Mississippi Circuit Court Trial Judges.

His activities at the convention consisted of business and election meeting, judicial administration division programs and social events.

The topics of the programs were "The Pursuit of Excellence within the Judiciary," "Significant State/Federal Impact Divisions," "Judicial Immunity and Liability," and "Drunk Driving—Can The Law Stop It."

$1.5 million loan approved for City

By JUNE M. HEYDT

Following Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett's announcement that the city has been approved for a $1.5 million Farmers Home Administration loan, Sheldon Seuzeneau, councilman, said, "This is a great day for the people of Bay St. Louis."

Seuzeneau continued, "Due to the progressiveness of the mayor and the cooperation of the council, this program has become a reality."

The announcement of the loan was made Friday when Bennett received unofficial confirmation from the office of Sen. Thad Cochran in Washington, D.C.

The loan is repayable in 30 years at 9.8 percent interest.

Hartcock Bank and Merchants Bank and Trust Co. agreed to match the funds with 20-year loans of $500,000 each at the same rate of 9.8 interest, Bennett said.

Bennett added, "We were told that if we could match the funds we would have much more of a chance at getting the FmHA loan approved. The banks were very helpful and cooperative," Bennett said.

The funds will be used for phase one of a four phase long term project, estimated to cost $13 to $15 million, to provide city utilities to the annexed area, Bennett said.

Phase one will include the area from Felicity Street, down Engman Avenue to US-90 including parts of US-90, down Blue Meadow Road to Seube Street and south as far as the city's sewage treatment pond.

The areas serviced will be north of US-90, west of Dunbar Ave., south of US-90 to Old Spanish Trail.

A suit was filed against the city by citizens of the annexed area for $200 million because of lack of utility services promised when the area was annexed in 1967.

"Hopefully, they will drop the suit," said Bennett. "I don't agree with the amount of the suit but, I do agree with the intent."

"The basis for the suit was to make sure of some action. I think when they realize in good faith that we're going with the action they will drop it."

The project was originally started in April of 1978. "That's how long we've been working on it," said Bennett.

"I'm elated," said Bennett. "When you work on something like this for so many years, it gives you a feeling of accomplishment."

Bennett said he expects that work on the project will begin in mid-1984. He added that smaller lines for adjacent streets would be installed by city crews, separate from the major construction project.

RE-ELECT CARL BANDERET CORONER

CARL BANDERET, Hancock County coroner for the past eight years.

Retired from LAMANA PANNO FALLO Funeral home in New Orleans, La. after serving 6 years. Also served 21 years in Gulfport Veterans Hospital. Being retired, enables me, as I have in the past 8 years, to devote my full and undivided attention and services, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, to the office of coroner to which you the voters have chosen me to serve you for the 2 past terms.

When called to the residence to perform my duty as coroner, I immediately ask the family of the deceased which Funeral Director they would like me to summon. The coroner in this particular part of his service must show no partiality or political persuasion.

I am the first coroner in the State of Mississippi, out of 82 counties to have solved the problem, in case of an emergency, of transport and storing bodies in other counties when autopsies are required by installation of the first county-owned mortuary refrigerator in Mississippi at Hancock General Hospital.

P.S. A Coroner in the State of Mississippi earns $400 a year plus $20 upon each inquest. I thought you would like to know.

Re-elect Carl Banderet for coroner

Isn't It Time We Had Some Good News For A Change?

As our chief law enforcement officer, the District Attorney should be an example of a law-abiding citizen. He should work hard against crime. Avoiding even the appearance of wrongdoing.

The District Attorney should take the lead in criminal investigations — instead of being the subject of investigations himself.

But here's some good news.

On August 2nd, the majority of the voters of Harrison, Hancock and Stone Counties voted to make a change in the District Attorney's office. And that's good news.

It means people are tired of putting up with the cloud of doubt that hangs over the District Attorney's office. It's a bad reflection on all of us. And it's unfair to the rest of our honest, hardworking public officials.

We can trust Cono Caranna.

He served us well in Vietnam. An Infantry company commander, he won three bronze stars for heroism and a Purple Heart for wounds received in action.

As City Attorney, he's tried some of the toughest cases ever presented in court — and won.

Caranna has worked closely with law enforcement for over 10 years. So, as our District Attorney, he'll make sure law enforcement officers will work with the District Attorney's office — instead of having to work around it.

We have to speak up once again.

On Tuesday, August 23rd, let's go to the polls and vote. Let's elect Cono Caranna, District Attorney.

And that'll be some good news... for a change.

Lexington attorney to head state FmHA

Don Barrett of Lexington has been recommended for appointment as Mississippi director of the Farmers Home Administration.

Barrett's recommendation was announced jointly by Sen. Thad Cochran and Rep. James Trent Lott and Gov. Frankland.

Barrett, 38, is a partner in the law firm of Barrett, Barrett, Barrett and Patton in Lexington. Additionally, he has farming interests in Holmes and Humphreys Counties.

He is a magna cum laude graduate of the University of Mississippi, where he was a member of the Ford Foundation Scholars. He is a 1969 graduate of the University of Mississippi School of Law, where he was a member of the Law Journal.

Barrett has been a member of the Mississippi Board of Agriculture for years. He is a member of the United States

Air Force.

Senator Cochran said, "I'm confident he will do a fine job making sure that the agency responds in a sensitive way to the credit problems of the farmers."

Lott stated, "I've known Don Barrett for several years, and I'm confident he has the knowledge of farmers' needs, the ability to make decisions and the personality to get the job done for the Farmers Home Administration in Mississippi."

Franklin said, "I think Don Barrett is an excellent choice for a difficult job. I've known him for many years, and he's been successful in business, in farming and as an attorney. I think his varied background will certainly make him an asset to the Farmers Home Administration."

By Katy McGuire Caire

"Salad Soups" tempt the appetite when the temperature soars. They're easy on the cook, dishes, also, at least at mealtime, for they need only cold meats or chicken and hot breads to round out a tasty menu.

One of the tastiest is the frosty Gazpacho of Spain, a salad-soup or soup salad, depending upon how you prepare it and the consistency you choose.

Gazpacho is said to have originated as a refreshing mainstay of peasants working in the fields of Spain under the blazing summer sun. The women used to carry the cold soup in jugs to the workers in the fields and olive groves, to sustain them through the day.

There is no one set way to make Gazpacho; rather, there are countless variations, and many arguments over the best way. Some like the vegetables smoothed down to a thick puree, others prefer the vegetables finely-diced, and others even prefer larger chunks of the vegetables.

My favorite recipe was given to me by a close friend known for her gourmet style. So, for six servings, here's:

M.E. Andry's Gazpacho
6 large ripe tomatoes, finely chopped
2 cucumbers, finely chopped
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup olive oil
3 Tbsp. lemon juice
Dash of pepper
Merest dash of hot pepper sauce
2 cups chilled tomato juice
Croutons, optional
Parsley, for garnish
For extra flavor, start the day before by rubbing a glass bowl with a clove of garlic, discard garlic. Next day, peel, seed and chop the tomatoes and cucumbers. Add the onion and bell (green) pepper.

Place in the bowl and pour over the vegetables the olive oil and lemon juice mixture. Add pepper and pepper sauce. Chill several hours in the refrigerator in the seasoned bowl. Just before serving, add the chilled tomato juice.

Serve in chilled soup plates, with an ice cube in each bowl, and parsley sprinkled atop. Garnish with croutons, if desired.

If you prefer, you may cut down on the tomato juice and have more of a salad or relish.

A copy of the book may be obtained by sending a money order for $2, payable to Mississippi ETV, and a return address to Reading Rainbow, Education Division, P.O. Box 1101, Jackson, MS 39205.

"Reading Rainbow," hosted by LeVar Burton, is for beginning readers, many of whom experience a loss of reading abilities over the summer. It is based on the idea that the most important thing a child can do in the early grades is to begin reading successfully. The primary feature of each program is an adaptation of a popular children's picture book.

Adult evening classes scheduled at Stennis

The Pearl River Junior College Hancock County Vocational-Technical Center adjacent to Stennis Airfield is offering several adult evening vocational and academic courses during the Fall 1983 semester.

Peoples Federal S&LA posts record profits

Peoples Federal Savings and Loan Association posted record profits the first half of 1983, according to David A. Treutel, president.

"Profits for the first six months nearly equaled those of the entire year of 1982, which was the most profitable year in our history," he stated.

"We believe these results represent solid achievement, particularly when compared to other financial institutions in the nation."

More importantly, added Treutel, "as both the national and local economies continue to improve, Peoples Federal has achieved excellent momentum towards future growth as evidenced by our recent addition of a new branch serving the Diamondhead area."

We are optimistic that the business community can look forward to a steady economic comeback. We believe the economy will continue to improve, but at a somewhat slower rate as attempts are now being made to slow the rate of economic recovery."

"Substantial increases in savings are due to the most attractive Money Market deposit accounts and the real value consistently in savings rates. We have succeeded in attracting people who formerly invested in out-of-state money market accounts and who are now coming back to their hometown because we offer fully insured, better savings plans with better service," the financial executive continued.

Peoples Federal is headquartered on Court Street in Bay St. Louis with branches on US-90 in Waveland and in Diamondhead.

Business and office vocational courses will include Accounting I, Accounting II, Office Machines, Shorthand I, Typing I, and Typing II.

Trade and industrial courses offered are Air Conditioning & Refrigeration, Auto Mechanics, Carpentry/Cabinetmaking, Electricity, Machine Shop, and Welding.

Academic college courses offered are Algebra 1313, Speech 1313, and World History 1113. Academic courses carry full accreditation and are VA approved.

Cost per course varies from $45 to $150 depending on course selection. Classes that develop will begin meeting on Aug. 29 and continue for 17 weeks with students meeting one or two nights per week, depending on course selection.

Students may register anytime from Aug. 22 thru 25 from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. or on Aug. 25 from 4 until 7 p.m.

In the event ten or more students do not register and pay fees, the scheduled course will be cancelled.

For information contact the center at 467-3568.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

By Shawn Murphy

MINISTER, BAY ST. LOUIS CHURCH OF CHRIST

Be imitators of God, therefore, as dearly loved children and live a life of love, just as Christ loved us and gave himself up for us as fragrant offering and sacrifice to God.

—Ephesians 5:1,2

What an awesome challenge! God's people are to be imitators of their heavenly Father. Notice, he says as dearly loved children live a life of love.

The first thing that comes to my mind is the picture of little girls and boys playing dress up. Picture a little girl putting on her Mother's high heels and a little boy putting on his father's suit coat and oversized hat!

You see it is the natural instinct of little children to want to be like and act like their parents. And so it should be with those who have been born again into the family of God!

Only instead of high heels, and oversized coats and hats God's children are to clothe themselves with the garment of love! Love that is not selfish, but rather purely motivated and from the heart even to the point of sacrifice.

It is best described by the kind of love that Jesus had for us when he unselfishly gave His own life on the cross on our behalf!

And so when we grow up in Christ, the way we know that we have matured is by comparing our life with the description of love found in 1 Corinthians 13:4-8.

Love is patient, love is kind. It does not envy, it does not boast, it is not proud. It is not rude, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs. Love does not delight in evil but rejoices in the truth. It always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres. Love never fails.

I can just picture our heavenly Father looking upon us as His dearly loved children watching with great pride as we try on His spiritual clothing which is love. And while it may be a struggle to wear it at first, He knows that we will grow into it in time.

So don't be embarrassed to imitate God. That's what children are supposed to do!

Parish News

By Fr. B.C. Keller

A society that tries to silence its prophets is, in effect, shooting itself in the foot. But God never ceases to raise up people who dare to speak for him. Prophetic words are even more necessary today.

Kindly remember in your prayers William and Adele Tate who were buried from St. Rose last Thursday.

We want to thank our tutoring staff of Zettie Farve, Clementine Williams, and Marilyn Williams, for the wonderful job they did for their 45 "clients" these past four weeks.

Thanks also to the parents for their cooperation. This same staff did a super job in putting the classrooms back together again.

Tomorrow is a holiday of obligation in honor of the Assumption of Our Lady into heaven. Masses will be at 6:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. See you there!

The Hancock County Branch NAACP will meet tomorrow at 7 p.m. in the Seminary cafeteria.

Our Gospel Choir will practice on Tuesday at 6:30 p.m.

Our Inquiry Class, conducted by Sister Lauren Dietl, will resume this Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in hall behind the school.

Saturday, Aug. 20, we will have our second annual Pot Luck Dinner in the Seminary Gymnasium at 7:30 p.m. This year's honorees will be the Senior Citizens of our parish. We want to spotlight these Golden Parishioners who built our parish and former school.

All parishioners are invited to attend. Any senior citizen parishioners, beyond age of 60, who will not have transportation that night should contact the rectory.

Next Sunday we will honor Sister Lauren with a Silver Jubilee Mass in church at 9 a.m. We will forego our annual outdoor Mass for this occasion. A reception for Sister will follow in the cafeteria. In the afternoon you are invited to picnic dinner and games on our school grounds. Mr. Saunders Bell will be in charge of the games for children and adults. There will be no 6 p.m. Mass that evening.

Parishioners are hereby notified that Youth Exchange Service (YES), a non profit international educational organization fostering goodwill and friendship among nations, is in urgent need of Catholic families all over the United States who would like to host Catholic students from Europe, the Far East, Central and South America, and Mexico, for periods of three months, one second school semester, or one school year (nine months).

The students are carefully screened and oriented before arrival, they speak from fair to good English, have excellent medical insurance, and bring their own spending money. Host families are asked to provide a bed and meals and to accept the student as a son or daughter.

This is a most enriching experience for everyone in the family. For detailed information, please contact: Youth Exchange Service, World Trade Center Building, 350 South Figueroa Street, Los Angeles, Calif. 90071, or phone: (213) 617-0800.

Our St. Rose Catholic Youth Organization will have its first meeting of this new school year on Monday, Aug. 22, at 7 p.m. in the cafeteria.

MASS SCHEDULE

Sunday, 7 and 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. (No 6 p.m. Mass next Sunday).
